

Home

BUSH HERITAGE AUSTRALIA

Try using green share cars for a while to see if they would meet your transport needs

Try a bike and get healthy at the same time

There is a lot that can be done to make our houses more sustainable. Some of these things involve up-front investments, but most will save you money in the long-term.

Think about the long-term value of:

- Double glazing
- Improving/adding insulation
- Sealing 'drafty' doors and windows
- Planting deciduous shady trees/ vines on the north side of the house
- Modifying your home to be more passive solar - or looking at the sustainable design of a property if buying a new house/apartment. It could save thousands of dollars.

